"Selecting an architect is much like hiring a sculptor or an artist and commissioning him or her to create a unique work of art for you to live in."

—Jack Smuckler

Sculptured curves, warm maple tones and sleek granite surfaces combine to make this unique rambler a contemporary piece of art. The open floor plan, tall ceilings with architectural detail and dramatic windows provide a natural flow from room to room and showcase views of the surrounding wetlands and woods. This home is filled with distinctive design features from the barrel vaulted ceiling and granite-slab buffet ledge in the dining room and spacious gourmet kitchen, to the expansive bay windows that create inviting living spaces throughout the home. There is a master suite on the main floor and ample room on the lower level for casual entertaining.
